Foreclosure positions most in 8 years

If you look at the latest data from the Antioch, CA, area, foreclosures are expected to increase in the upcoming months. According to the latest figures, the number of foreclosure positions has more than doubled in the last year, reaching 5.72% of the market, which is the highest percentage recorded since 1999. This is a significant increase from the 2.1% rate recorded in January 2002.

In other words, foreclosures in Antioch, CA, have more than doubled compared to last year. The number of foreclosed homes is now at its highest level since 1999, and the rate continues to rise. The National Association of Realtors predicts that the number of delinquencies may have peaked, but that doesn't mean that the market has fully recovered.

Like Boddy said, the market is still in the early stages of recovery, and it could take years to fully recover. Boddy's company, which specializes in foreclosure positions, expects the rate to continue to rise in the near future. The National Association of Realtors predicts that the number of delinquencies may have peaked, but that doesn't mean that the market has fully recovered.