

2008 Student Affairs Survey

Institutional Research, Planning and Effectiveness

November 20, 2008

Results of Student Affairs Survey 2008

In March 2008, the Office of Institutional Research Planning and Effectiveness (IRPE) administered the Student Affairs Survey (SAS). The SAS consists of 61 questions covering various aspects of university life at UT Arlington. The SAS was completed by 3031 students in selected classes from all UT Arlington schools and colleges and residence halls, representing 12.7% of the student population in Spring 2008.

Methodology

The SAS contains a subset of questions from the Comprehensive Student Survey, an instrument that has been administered periodically since 1973; however, due to concerns regarding length, the Comprehensive Student Survey was discontinued and two shorter surveys, the SAS and the Student Experience Survey (SES) were adopted in 2004. IRPE worked with representatives from several administrative departments across the university to develop the iterations used in 2008 which include minor changes to the number of questions, the wording of some questions, and the omission of departmental codes and student classification.

The SAS was administered during the first two weeks of March in 150 day and evening courses and in residence halls: 1871 students completed the survey in classes and 1160 students completed the survey in their residence hall. The surveys completed in courses were handed out in the selected classes. Surveys were administered in the residence halls via four different methods. Students filled them out: a) during a pre-planned event (e.g., pizza party); b) during a survey specific event; c) in response to a door to door campaign; and d) in the specific hall office.

Results

Sample Demographics

Demographic comparisons showed the survey respondents to be convincingly representative of the overall student population of UT Arlington in terms of ethnicity, classification, and gender. The respondents by ethnicity matched that of the overall student body within +/- 3% in the six ethnic categories.

With regard to classification, the largest difference was between the respondents and overall student body among juniors, which made up 25.7% of the sampled population, and 17.6% of the overall UT Arlington student population, (a difference of 8.1%.) In all other categories of student classification, the respondent's distribution matched the university's distribution within 5%.

The proportion of respondents by gender showed only a 1% difference between the sample and total population. The number of female respondents was greater than the number of male respondents; however, this does reflect the difference between female and male enrollment at UT Arlington. Most of the respondents were students who attended UT Arlington full-time, took classes during the day, and were working towards either an undergraduate or graduate degree. Fifty-seven percent (57%) of the responding students attended another institution prior to UT Arlington whereas 42.2% percent of students began their college careers at UT Arlington (See Table 1).

Student Characteristics and Behavior

Employment

- About half of the respondents reported being employed during the school year, with 13% working 40 or more hours per week. Twenty-eight (28%) percent reported working 20 hours or fewer per week and 20 percent worked between 20 and 40 hours per week. Nearly 31% were not employed and 9% worked only during semester and summer breaks.

Housing

- Forty-eight (48%) percent of respondents reported living on campus. The largest percentage of students living off campus reported living outside of Arlington, but within 25 miles of campus (28%). Twenty-three (23%) percent of students reported living outside of Arlington, 25 miles or more from campus. Fifteen percent (15%) of students live within one mile of campus and an additional 30% live more than one mile from campus but within Arlington city limits. Note: As described in the Methodology section previously, the survey was administered in residence halls and UT Arlington apartment complexes, which skews the data on housing.
- Thirty-six (36%) percent of respondents reported living in their own home or apartment off-campus and 15% reported living with parents or relatives. Twenty-eight (28%) percent of the students reported living in residence halls and 20% reported living in university apartments including in Centennial Court. A small percentage, less than 1%, reported living in a fraternity or sorority house.

- The primary reason for choosing not to live on campus was a virtual tie between the convenience of living at home and the lesser expense compared to living elsewhere (35%). Five percent (5%) reported that they did not live on campus due to there being no rooms available.

Other Selected Findings

- Fifty-two percent (52%) of students reported that they did not spend any time in organized co-curricular activities, while 32% reported that they spent 1-5 hours involved in clubs, student organizations, fraternities/sororities, student publications, student congress and the like. Ten percent (10%) reported spending 6-11 hours, and 6% of respondents reported spending more than 11 hours in organized co-curricular activities.
- Twenty percent (20%) of students found that signs, posters and bulletin boards were their top sources of information on campus, followed by other students (18%) and MavMail (11%). Student organizations (5%) and university/department websites (6%) were reported as the lowest utilized sources of information about campus activities and events.
- Nearly 80% of students reported that they were aware of a place they could go to express complaints and suggestions, but 30% of those students did not know where to do so. Twenty-one percent (21%) of respondents did not feel that there were places they could go to express complaints and suggestions.
- The top three areas where respondents found their greatest personal satisfaction while at UT Arlington were progress towards career goals (25.5%), intellectual development (22%) and peer group interaction (17%). Interaction with faculty and staff, co-curricular activities, living on campus and leadership opportunities and development were rated lower than the above areas.
- When asked where they would go for help with personal problems, students' top three choices would be parents or relatives (31%), other students and friends (30%) and faculty members (11%). Respondents to this question appeared to prefer to utilize non-university resources for help as opposed to Counseling Services, supervisors at campus jobs, Residential Life staff, campus religious centers or Student Affairs staff.
- Forty-five percent (45%) of the sampled students reported that they used their UT Arlington email account daily, 28% of students used it weekly, 11% used it two or three times a month, 5% used it several times during the academic year and 6% used it once or twice during the academic year. Six percent (6%) reported that they did not use their UT Arlington email account at all.

- Twenty-five percent (25%) of respondents agreed and 9% of respondents strongly agreed that the Student Affairs staff had a positive influence on their personal growth, values and attitudes; 18% either disagreed or strongly disagreed and 48% had no opinion on the matter. Students classified as Lower Division and those living on-campus found the influence of student affairs slightly more important than students classified as Upper Division or Graduate and living off-campus.
- Eighty percent (80%) of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they had made the right decision to attend UT Arlington; 10% either disagreed or strongly disagreed and 10% had no opinion regarding this question.
- Likewise, 80% agreed or strongly agreed that it is important for them to graduate from UT Arlington; 11% disagreed or strongly disagreed and 10% had no opinion. Upper Division (59%) and Graduate students (56%) agreed more than Lower Division students (40%) that it was important to graduate from this university.
- Fifty-seven percent (57%) of respondents reported that having other students of the same ethnic background has made them feel comfortable at UT Arlington; however 41% of students had no opinion and 17% either strongly disagreed or disagreed when the same question was asked of the relationship of cultural activities and comfort at UT Arlington.
- Only 30% of respondents were aware of UT Arlington's judicial procedures but 54% reported that they knew where to obtain information regarding the university's Student Code of Conduct.

Importance of and Satisfaction with Student Affairs Departments and Services

Students were asked to rate 12 items regarding various aspects of Student Affairs, using importance and satisfaction scales. Items covered subject areas such as cultural opportunities, social opportunities, special events, commitment to needs, sense of community and pride at UT Arlington, and other areas regarding Student Affairs.
