

News Release – UT Arlington School of Nursing

July 23, 2009

Cardinal Health, one of the founding partners of the UT Arlington School of Nursing Smart Hospital, has announced the board of directors approval of the spinoff of CareFusion Corporation and a resulting name change. The board voted to approve the spinoff after concluding that, as separate companies, both Cardinal Health and CareFusion will benefit from enhanced management focus and sharper strategic vision, as well as improved opportunities to make investments in their respective growth areas.

Due to this change, the Smart Hospital's designation as a Cardinal Health Nursing Discovery Center has changed to CareFusion Nursing Discovery Center.

###

About CareFusion Corporation

CareFusion Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Cardinal Health, will become a public company as a result of the planned spinoff of Cardinal Health's clinical and medical products businesses. The global company serves the health care industry with products and services that help hospitals measurably improve the safety and quality of health care. CareFusion develops market-leading technologies including Alaris® IV pumps, Pyxis® automated dispensing and patient identification systems, AVEA and Pulmonetic Systems ventilation and respiratory products, ChloroPrep® and MedMined™ services for infection prevention, neurological monitoring and diagnostic products, V. Mueller® surgical instruments, and an extensive line of products that support interventional medicine. CareFusion employs more than 15,000 people across its global operations. The company has applied to have its shares of common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol "CFN." More information may be found at www.CareFusion.com.

About "New" Cardinal Health

Headquartered in Dublin, Ohio, Cardinal Health, Inc. (NYSE: CAH) reported fiscal 2008 revenues of $87 billion, on an adjusted basis not including CareFusion Corporation. The company improves the cost-effectiveness and quality of health care by helping pharmacies, hospitals and ambulatory care sites focus on patient care while reducing costs, improving efficiency and increasing profitability. As one of the largest suppliers of pharmaceuticals and medical products in the world, Cardinal Health is an essential link in the health care supply chain, and is also a leading manufacturer of medical and surgical products, including gloves, surgical apparel and fluid management products. In addition, the company supports the growing diagnostic industry by supplying medical products to clinical laboratories and operating the nation's largest network of radio pharmacies that dispense products that aid in the early diagnosis and treatment of disease. Ranked No. 18 on the Fortune 500, Cardinal Health employs more than 30,000 people worldwide. More information about the company may be found at www.cardinalhealth.com.