

Angel that cries Blood

By Mextli

Picture by "SisterOthela" taken on June 25, 2009

<http://media.photobucket.com/image/tears%20of%20blood/SisterOthela/TearsOfBlood.jpg>

Angel that cries blood
instead of just tears
she hurts arms
she hurts her veins
all things she does are harming she does this knowing it isn't charming

Angel that cries blood
instead of just tears
makes herself believe her problems will disappear
as she hurts her veins to feel the true and real pain and not her emotional gain
That angel upset and alone
The one that cries blood
Is no imagination nor god
That angel is just me
As some may only see...

Explanation: This poem explains the past that I have been through in some years, and indirectly relates to what my best friend has passed through. All this has made me who I am in the present.

Written By Mextli, Presidio, Texas on 6/30/09