Spring Graduates

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT ARLINGTON

A MESSAGE TO OUR GRADUATES

DEAR GRADUATES:

Congratulations! It is an honor to welcome you as a new member of the growing Maverick alumni family.

You have persevered through unprecedented challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, weathering an extraordinary amount of change and uncertainty as a result. Every member of the University's faculty and staff has been dedicated to your academic and personal success during your time with the University. We are all incredibly proud of the hard work, dedication, and spirit you have shown during this time.

Admittedly, your final semester did not conclude as any of us could have envisioned. Unforeseen circumstances affected our scheduled commencement ceremonies, which are traditional milestone events to celebrate this special accomplishment with your family, loved ones, friends, and classmates.

However, because we needed to take necessary precautions to protect you and all attendees, we unfortunately were unable to hold the originally scheduled ceremonies. We do hope to celebrate your commencement in person at a future date.

Despite the very understandable disappointment in not having a commencement ceremony as we had originally planned, I hope you recognize and celebrate your experiences and earning your degree at UT Arlington. We want this to be the defining memory of spring 2020 for you.

During your last semester, you have been witness to history and have played an important role in our collective response to this pandemic. When this crisis ends, our communities will need your Maverick ingenuity and spirit more than ever before to make the world a better place.

We hope that The University of Texas at Arlington will always be your home, and we look forward to fostering our connection with you in the years to come through alumni outreach and events.

Again, congratulations on this wonderful achievement.

With Maverick Pride,

Teik C. Lim, Ph.D.

Commencement Mace

The mace, a symbolic staff of high office, is often a traditional element in academic processions. The University of Texas at Arlington’s mace, designed and created in 2007 by Texas State Artist and Professor David Keens with the assistance of Metal Art Adjunct Professor Fred Miller, is distinctly non-traditional. The UTA mace is an undulating, artistic design of metal and glass that reflects the traditional symbols of academia in a dynamic and contemporary way. Almost completely made of clear glass, it is only upon closer observation that the University’s colors are seen in glass below the round, etched-metal University seal. Surrounding the seal is a contemporary wreath design in transparent glass symbolizing the pursuit of higher education. Below the seal, wreath, and colored glass is a forged metal contemporary nest. Below the nest is a transition into the past with etched transparent glass depictions of the institution’s past names: what Keens calls an ethereal space of time past. All of these sections rest on a long, swirled-glass, undulating tendril, reflecting the linear flow of time. It is a tangible image of history, prestige, formality, creativity, innovation, and the uniqueness of UTA.

Each academic unit designates a commencement marshal who will carry the mace at the head of the processional, symbolizing the official nature of the event. When the processional reaches the platform, the mace will be placed at the right of the podium as a visual reminder of the history of this traditional academic ceremony. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the marshal will retrieve the mace from its holder and carry it at the head of the recessional. Following today’s ceremony, the mace will be displayed in the Office of the President until the next commencement.

Academic Dress

The tradition of the academic costume apparently began during the 12th or 13th century in early European universities. At that time, the clergy composed the majority of the educated class, so academic dress is an adaptation of the cape or mantle—usually made of silk or wool—worn by church dignitaries in religious processions.

Through the years, great diversity in color and in style of cap, gown, and hood developed. In 1896, the colleges and universities in the United States adopted a uniform code governing academic dress. Today, the black gown, hood, and mortar board worn by the graduates in most institutions follow this code. Most universities do not use the hood for those graduates receiving bachelor’s degrees.

While it is not apparent to the casual observer, the gowns worn by the recipients of the various degrees vary somewhat in design. The sleeves of the gowns worn by the baccalaureate candidates are long and pointed, while the sleeves of the gowns worn by the master’s degree recipients are square at one end with a slit at the elbow. The doctoral gown has flowing sleeves with three bars of velvet and a facing of velvet on the front of the gown.

Colors used on the hoods serve as identification for the degree. The hood of the doctoral candidate differs in design from that of the master’s as it has side panels and is slightly longer. The velvet border of the hood indicates the degree and usually follows the same code as the color of the tassels.

The oxford cap, usually referred to as a mortar board, is black and has a long tassel that is fastened by a button on the top. The tassel is usually worn over the left of the cap. The color of the tassel on the cap indicates the degree.
